

ABF TEAM VALUES

We care about everyone impacted by brain disease.

We recognize that brain disease affects the core of what makes us human, our brains. We bring humanity to the world of brain disease by sharing the stories of those living with brain disease and their caregivers and by funding innovative research to find cures.

We are driven to find cures.

Our mission is our North Star. We are passionate about what we do and believe our vision of life without brain disease is possible. And we won't stop until we get there.

We work better together.

We know that we cannot do this work alone. Collaboration between diverse individuals and organizations is key to finding cures for all brain diseases.

We never stop learning.

We strive to maintain curiosity in everything we do, whether by keeping up on the latest neuroscience discoveries or improving our operations. We challenge ourselves to innovate and continually raise the bar.

We are grateful.

We are humbled and inspired by everyone in the brain disease community—those living with brain disease and their caregivers, researchers, and neurologists. We recognize that without the support of our community of donors, we wouldn't be able to do what we do: Invest in research that will one day lead to cures for brain disease. We are deeply grateful for their unwavering commitment to life without brain disease.

We strive for excellence in everything we do.

We bring our highest-quality work to the table knowing that we each play an important role in our shared success. We know that people look to us to be a trustworthy and helpful resource for information about brain disease and brain disease research, so we work hard to provide only the most credible information.

We enjoy our work.

We like what we do and who we do it with. We believe working hard and playing hard are achievable and we bring easy-going fun into our teamwork wherever and whenever we can.
